DESIGN INTENT:

The Ion Max is the one of the strongest core/cover designs Storm has ever produced. Starting with the NRG Solid cover, which has a higher oil absorbency than most. This guarantees it can be used on just about anything with the correct surface preparation. This nano-based cover has proven to be able to handle larger volumes of oil if left dull, but can excel on medium conditions as well if polished. The Element Max A.I. Core began with the Ion Pro and the advent of a core that utilized a very dense, center-heavy design. This core shape allows core dynamics to change more drastically between different layouts. As with the Ion Pro, the driller can significantly increase the intermediate differential if drilling close to the PSA. The flare potential of the Max has been souped up with the addition of a weighted disk. This part adds over 50% more flare potential to the ball.
